

Rank	Quarterback	Trending up	Trending Down	Target
9/7	Last updated	Scott Atkins from SI Fantasy – QUARTERBACK RANKINGS - @ScottFantasy
1	Lamar Jackson, BAL	If he somehow slips to the 5th, you MUST take him. His production can make up for a weak flex option.
2	Patrick Mahomes, KC	If I'm paying for either of the top two, it will be Lamar, not Mahomes.
3	Russell Wilson, SEA	I'm okay with any of these next four, but they usually go in a one or two round run, so if it starts right after you pick, you're out of luck. Incredible stat: Hawks w Wilson are 57-0 when leading by 4 or more at halftime.
4	Deshaun Watson, HOU
5	Dak Prescott, DAL	WRs are better but his offensive line is worse. I'm okay if you have him ranked 3.
6	Kyler Murray, ARI
7	Tom Brady, TB	Any of these next five are going to put up extremely similar numbers, so if you can wait a little longer, keep gobbling up RBs and WRs.
8	Matt Ryan, ATL
9	Josh Allen, BUF	Added Diggs, but the accuracy on deep balls isn't there yet. Scrambling (which we fantasy players love) makes up for a lot of weaknesses in his game.
10	Drew Brees, NO
11	Matthew Stafford, DET	This is an extremely large tier, so if you didn't grab a top 10 QB, any of these QBs will do, but you'll obviously need two from this tier to play the matchups.
12	Carson Wentz, PHI	Already with a soft tissue injury. Apparently, nothing serious, but I can already see the camera switching to Jalen Hurts warming up on the sideline. The offense is improving from the dumpster fire of injuries that was 2019. Even then, it was a Top 7 fantasy season for Wentz.
13	Jared Goff, LAR
14	Aaron Rodgers, GB	This offense has changed a lot and is no longer dependent on his 2nd half comeback fury.
15	Daniel Jones, NYG
16	Ben Roethlisberger, PIT	If he stays healthy, and that's a big if, he will be a Top 10 QB. Book it. The only reason he's this low is his age and injury risk.
17	Cam Newton, NE	He keeps climbing up my board as we get closer to the season. I know he's motivated, and he'll probably start fast, but I think there's a good chance that he'll fade fast too. Upside is there.
18	Baker Mayfield, CLE	Was enamored with his upside, but it hasn't translated to consistency, which you need in fantasy.
19	Jimmy Garoppolo, SF	Another underrated QB. Perfectly fine with him as my QB2.
20	Kirk Cousins, MIN	Obviously, this jumps into the Top 15 if Dalvin Cook holds out.
21	Joe Burrow, CIN	I don't think he's ready to win in the NFL. Year one will probably be rough. His upside is Top 15, however.
22	Sam Darnold, NYJ	I think he's going to be a solid QB2. They'll be playing from behind that's for sure.
23	Ryan Tannehill, TEN	Mr. Underrated. The problem for him is the defense and running game is so good.
24	Drew Lock, DEN	Lots of weapons at his disposal, but is he ready to take the next step? Top 15 upside.
25	Gardner Minshew II, JAC	He's going to be slinging it a lot with the loss of Fournette.

26	Teddy Bridgewater, CAR	Game manager Teddy. Capable of startable games but should lean on the running game.
27	Philip Rivers, IND	He's not done, and he has a great team around him.
28	Dwayne Haskins, WAS	He'll hold off the Alex Smith competition and over perform expectations.
29	Marcus Mariota, LV	I think he takes this job early on and doesn't look back.
30	Tua Tagovailoa, MIA	He'll be handed the reigns at mid-season with the brutal schedule the Dolphins face in the first half.
31	Justin Herbert, LAC	He's better than Taylor, almost immediately. The wide receivers should enjoy the bullets he can fire their way.
32	Nick Foles, CHI	So Trubisky won the job, only so he can lose the job.
33	Derek Carr, LV	I don't think he'll make it past Week 5 as the starter.
34	Tyrod Taylor, LAC
35	Jalen Hurts, PHI	He's bound to see some action considering how hard it is for Wentz to stay on the field.
36	Mitch Trubisky, CHI
37	Jameis Winston, NO
38	Ryan Fitzpatrick, MIA
39	Andy Dalton, DAL
40	Jarrett Stidham, NE
41	Taysom Hill, NO
42	Case Keenum, CLE
43	Jacoby Brissett, IND
44	Kyle Allen, WAS
45	Joe Flacco, NYJ
46	Brian Hoyer, NE
47	Jeff Driskel, DEN
48	Robert Griffin, BAL	